- Make a note of all the characters in the piece – use one word to sum up the personality of each character – with these words, create an illustrated short story involving characters with the same personality traits.
- This play is an adaptation of an English story into a regional language – pick out any English story and create an adaptation in your own language.– you can also ask your friends to join in and create the adaptation together.
- Once you have an adaptation of a story in your language, enact the piece.
